Latest thoughts	To apply you need last accounts (P&L and BS), latest management accounts plus Cash Flow forecast. Many banks want a personal guarantee from the business owner. If this is the case, you might consider increasing your mortgage instead.	Great news for fixing the cash flow in the short term - but will need paying later. Make sure you have a cash flow forecast. Cancel your DD as a precautionary measure.	You will have to pay these eventually, so it is a temporary respite. But worth deferring everything if you can, as money is better in your bank than HMRC's.	You may not know how much you owed. You can check this out on your HMRC tax account. Or your accountant will be able to tell you. Why not get your 2019/20 accounts done now and understand your full future liability to tax.	Once you have this you will feel more in control. If it's bad news you can start doing something to improve your situation	The first income row should be your existing debtors. After this list out your supplies (largest first). For expenses - start with what you owe in the first row and then add your regular payments and known payment plus estimates in the next rows.
What we don't know yet	Interest rates. British Bank Loans at 6%. High street banks charge from between 6% to 15%. We don't know the repayment terms yet.	If it will be extended. How aggressive HMRC will be when collecting the outstanding amounts on 05.04.2021	When the phone works and how long the queues are.		There is a lot of uncertainty. You can run scenarios on the cash flow to forecast different futures	Best to put in a good estimate rather than a zero. For a bank loan the banks are expecting you to of taken all the HMRC deferred payment schemes into account.
Don'ts	Don't take out loans with high-interest rates. There are temporary overdrafts facilities out there with interest rates of 3.3% per month (this is 40% p.a.)	Don't pay your VAT (you don't need to). Stop your DD leaving your bank account (HMRC can't stop their DD).	Don't pay now if you can defer it.	Don't pay the 31.07.2020 tax payment	Don't put your head in the sand. Don't panic	Don't struggle - call your accountant or get help from someone who is a whiz at Excel
